

UAMS | Psychiatric
Research Institute

learn.connect.serve.

Cultivating Arkansas' Next Generation of Behavioral Health Leaders

Learn, Connect, Serve: Cultivating Arkansas' Next Generation of Behavioral Health Leaders

is a free all-day event for college-aged students interested in the field of behavioral health.

Saturday, Oct. 24

8 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.

UAMS I. Dodd Wilson Education Building
116 Hooper Drive, Little Rock, AR 72205

Learn about opportunities waiting for you in behavioral health, connect with those leading change, and step confidently into a future where you serve with impact.

Limited Seats Available

Apply now!

tinyurl.com/LCSPRI2026

FEATURES:

- Breakfast, lunch, and refreshments
- Pop-up Academic and Career Fair
- Career path and skill-building workshops
- Mock treatment team discussion
- Research Poster Session and networking
- Expert panels on stress, career paths

This event is made possible by a Chancellor's Circle Grant.
Participants must be 18 years old by Oct. 24.

Apply now!
tinyurl.com/LCSPRI2026

OUR CHALLENGE

Arkansas faces a critical shortage of mental health professionals. Nearly ALL the state's counties are designated as Mental Health Professional Shortage Areas. This event is designed to be accessible yet informative, providing practical insight into educational requirements, career options, and real-world experiences, driving interest and talent to the field.

OUR OPPORTUNITY

Empower the next generation of behavioral health professionals by providing the knowledge, guidance, and inspiration students need to make informed decisions about their academic and career journeys.